| Has a risk assessment programme that ensures that all staff are aware of the workplace risks that affect them and controls that are in place to mitigate risk. This includes driving risks. | Risk Assessments – training is run by H&S services internally. Policy and examples available on our website. RA also forms part of IOSH Managing Safely which managers and Safety Officers are encouraged to attend. Staff training matrix shows who should undertake what training (available under training on the H&S website). NEBOSH is offered to managers and Safety Officers too and RA forms a huge part of this qualification. Also developing an online RA package and a new online H&S induction which includes a section on driving risks.                   |
| Ensures health and safety training is provided for and completed by all staff within induction and their regular training programme.                                                        | Forms part of the University tick list induction sheet, will form part of all new starters induction via on-line learning. Has been delivered at Welcome to Loughborough. A staff training matrix is available on the H&S website. Internal audits and presentations at H&S Committee also demonstrate completion.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Ensures all managers have received health and safety management training.                                                                                                                   | IOSH Managing Safely and NEBOSH offered to all managers and Safety Officers with mixed results. Induction is provided to all new Heads of Department and Deans of their H&S responsibilities and has produced a booklet which outlines what they need to do to manage H&S at Loughborough. Staff training matrix available and all courses can be booked via my.HR. Cardinus have an on-line Safety for Line Managers module which I am discussing with Neil in respect of implementation. Responsibilities are also devolved via the University Health and Safety policy |
